

tive, Gail Pressberg.

"An important inroad was made. Many Jewish organizations will be vigilant in carefully monitoring the statements and positions APN takes in the future, and that's an important success," Klein said.

After the vote, the ZOA released a statement expressing hope that "APN will prove to be a positive factor in solidifying the base of support on behalf of Israel in the American Jewish community."

Meanwhile, Pressberg of APN is looking forward to joining the Presidents Conference.

"It will be good for us to be in discussions with organizations that represent many diverse points of view, to hear questions in people's minds, particularly people more conservative than we are," she said. ■
